The Hypodermic

Issue No. 1

Doernbecher Memorial Hospital for Children

Feb. 27, 1935

With this, the first issue of the THE HYPODERMIC, we begin a period of watchful observation.

As a news organ of the Doernbecher Memorial Hospital for Children, this sheet is intended to:

Deal with the individuals of the Doernbecher Hospital Staff in our own manner.

Note activities of personalities directly or indirectly concerned with the hospital.

Print suggestions pertaining to the welfare of the hospital and staff.

Inform the right hand of the doings of the left.

The special departments will be developed as the need arises. "The Sleuth" is a crying necessity and will be featured right from scratch. It is hoped that "The Sleuth" does not get too deep beneath the skin, for the hypodermics are administered by experts.

So Bon Voyage "La Hypodermique" and may your point be sharp and the injection painless!

The board of THE HYPODERMIC is eager to receive suggestions and comments, and perchance, cussings. Kindly drop suggestions and contributions in THE HYPODERMIC box in the Doernbecher Admitting Office.

The Doernbecher Memorial Hospital for Children, at the University of Oregon Medical School, is the recipient of an endowment of approximately $5000 from the First Hebrew Benevolent Association of Portland. The fund was left by the late Marx Cohen of Portland to the association as a trust fund, providing that the association should utilize it for the medical and surgical treatment and care of diseased children under the age of 16 years who, through poor financial circumstances, would be unable to obtain such care.

The estate consists of cash and property in Portland. The fund will be invested, the income to be utilized in the maintenance of a bed in memory of Marx Cohen.

We welcome Dr. C. W. Brunkow, back to Doernbecher.

MARRIED

Mildred Schlatter was married, Feb. 14th to Warren Troutman.

Dr. Robert C. Ellis, dental resident, talked on local anesthesia before the Southern Willamette Dental Society on January 19th, and will discuss the same subject before the Salem District Dental Society on March 12th.

Miss Kay Morse visited from San Francisco.

Mrs. J. B. Bilderback visits the Doernbecher Hospital.

THE SLEUTH

This guy Ellis sure is a bear for punishment. Two years as dental resident and now the departmental head's partner.

Why don't some nice eligible young intern or resident call At 2487. It might be worth while. Neglected wives are surely receptive.

Ask Miss Phelps about the new nomenclature of some parts of the human anatomy.

The National Board Exams may be a bugbear to some but they are the only force powerful enough to get Diamond Jack Thompson out of bed before 9:30 AM.

Gracious Dr. Dunnavan! You a recent church member and using such language in the dining room! Tsk! Tsk!

Louis Spekter spent a very enjoyable week-end at the mountains with a lovely red head. Some guys get all the breaks. Wonder what his pharmacist will do about this.

We understand that Frank Perlman is purchasing an interest in the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., at the rate of $1.30 a call to San Francisco.

Miss Whitehead, stndt. dietitian, prepared all day long for a frat frolic.

Dr. Minor Nichols entertained ten young ladies at tea. Little man, what now?

The Nu Sigs again paid homage to Terpisshore, this time at Columbia Country Club Feb. 21st.

Wonder when the next Doernbecher nuptials are to be. One thing we will wager is that the honeymoon will be in Alaska.

We understand Dr. Bridgeman is trying out for a tumbling act team.

We wonder---

Whether Miss Wolfe's arm is still sore,

Where Miss Moore learned such descriptive adjectives,

Who Miss Lund's "Darling" is.

Why The nightingale sings in the halls

Where Miss Gamache gets the roast beef sandwiches,

If Miss Nolting always wins her bets

Whose hair Miss Higby wanted to ruffle.

AND much more -----

Sam Allison is day dreaming again.

So far the sleuth has been unable to hang a thing on Lyle Bain, but he is patient. When a man never sins it is usually because he is unable to sin-- and Lyle doesn't look very anemic.

McDonnough's interest in Dental Medicine is absolutely unparalleled.

Dr. West, our hand-loading enthusiast, is now experimenting with shrapnel loads. Darn near blew Mr. Gaines' ranch to Smithereens.

The fickle finger of fate points to Jean Kindschi.

Alice Bridges highly recommends Lipman Wolfe Shoes these days. Wonder what became of your dental student, Alice?

At Jakes, after the dance, several men indulged in a bit of brawling and came out victorious.

The Wimpy Sweepstakes are on.

WEATHER FORCAST:

Calm and mild; a little stormy after the publication of this paper.
