U. These purchases were admitted by the Agency for International Development during a recent House debate on the foreign aid authorization bill.

The French social security system has been described in an official government report as facing bankruptcy. Labor Minister Gilbert Grandval, in a message to President Charles deGaulle, said the system has been forced far into the red by the nation's health insurance program (medicare), and not by the retirement program.

"To the best of our knowledge, Hipocrates never commented on the physician who owns a pharmacy. This is too bad, because the pot keeps boiling. . . . We're not in favor of physicians owning drug stores. In fact, we think that any physician who owns such an establishment may be asking for undeserved abuse. But at the same time, we're not against owning private property. Our gripe, if we may call it that, is with those who sneak around and try to paint something black that is, at worst, only light gray."

When excitement, apprehension, or nervousness stands in the way of a restful night, Seconal Sodium can help your patient get a good night's sleep.

Seconal Sodium usually brings sleep within fifteen to thirty minutes. Because the effects are dissipated within five to seven hours, the patient awakens refreshed and free from aftereffects.

Side-Effects: Idiosyncrasy, in the form of excitement or hangover, may appear as a side-effect. Hypersensitivity reactions may occur in some patients, especially in those with asthma, urticaria, or angioneurotic edema.

Precautions: Seconal Sodium should be used with caution in the presence of decreased liver function, since a prolongation of effect may occur.

Warning—May be habit-forming.

'All-Out' Diabetes Detection Effort Requires Help of Society Members

An all-out effort to discover Multnomah County's undetected diabetics, utilizing blood sugar tests, will be launched in November in a special program sponsored by the Multnomah County Medical Society, the Oregon Diabetes Association, and the Oregon Pathologists Association, in cooperation with the Multnomah County Division of Public Health.

Physicians are encouraged to participate in the "Multnomah County Diabetes Detection Program," and to take advantage of the free testing materials being offered and paid for through local tax funds. Testing will be provided, at no charge, by the Oregon Pathologists Association.

The program begins during national Diabetes Week, November 15-21, and will continue on a year-round basis. Special Testing Centers for persons who are unable to visit their own physician will be operated in several locations during Diabetes Week. The results of each test will be sent to the person's own family physician, if one is listed. Persons listing no physician will be referred to the Society which will provide several names to them for consultation.

Physicians Committee

Authorization for the program was given by the Multnomah County Medical Society's Board of Trustees and the Multnomah County Board of Commissioners last spring. A special physicians committee was established, with two representatives from each of the four participating groups. Robert L. Hare was named chairman by MCMS President Raymond M. Reichle. Other members of the Physicians Supervisory Committee include: George R. Satterwhite, Clifford Peasley, Terence Cochran, F. Sydney Hansen, John Donnelly, Rudolph Crommelin and E. Colton Meek, Jr.

Special 10-ounce cola-flavored "testing beverages" have been prepared, at cost, by the White Rock Bottling Company. Bottles of this glucose loading agent may be ordered by physicians in multiples of six, at no charge. Included with each "six-pack" of the "testing beverage" will be copies of the Patient Instruction Forms, and testing kits (comprised of vacutainers for drawing blood, needles, cardboard mailing tubes and patient information and reply forms).

After drawing the blood, physicians will enclose the specimen and patient information and reply form in the pre-addressed mailing tube and send it to the Multnomah County Public Health Department. From there, it will be relayed to one of the cooperating laboratories.

Testing Level

The physician will receive a reply card, indicating whether the patient's test was less than or more than 120 mg. percent blood sugar level, and suggest that it is either unlikely or likely that the patient is a diabetic. Persons tested in a doctor's office will not be notified of the results.

Persons who receive the tests in one of the Testing Centers during Diabetes Week will be informed of the results. If a personal physician was listed, he, too, will be notified of the results.

For uniformity in the testing results, the patient instruction forms advise that a normal breakfast or lunch be eaten on the day of testing; then 1½ to 4 hours after that meal, the testing beverage should be consumed within a 10-minute period. Blood should be drawn from 1½ to 2 hours after drinking the glucose loading beverage.

During Diabetes Week, the special Testing Centers will be staffed through the cooperation of the Portland District Society of Medical Technologists and the Woman's Auxiliary of the Multnomah County Medical Society.

Order Free Materials

Physicians are urged to order whatever quantity of the diabetes "testing beverage" bottles, testing kits and materials they might require in the months ahead. There is no charge. Initial distribution will be made prior to November 15, if ordered before the November 9 deadline. A simple order blank accompanies this article.

Future testing materials also will be available, at no charge. They may be picked up at a number of "pick-up" stations, to be announced later.

'No' Vote on Three Urged

Oregon physicians should oppose State Ballot Measure No. 3, which would create a compulsory state monopoly on workmen's compensation insurance. The Oregon AFL-CIO sponsored measure, if passed, would hurt Oregon both employers (including physicians) and employees.

To physicians, and other employers, a compulsory state monopoly with all coverage written solely by the state, means a continuation of the existing system expanded to cover all employers. It would remove the competition necessary for efficiency, as well as the incentive to keep costs at a minimum.

In addition, the 20% benefit increase proposed in the measure, not accompanied by any administrative reforms or improvements, would be translated into an employer tax increase far exceeding present rates—which already are higher than most other states!

To Oregon's labor force, many thousands presently receiving better benefits under existing employee-employer negotiated programs would be forced to accept lower benefits under this measure.

Physicians who employ office help automatically would be required to insure under the state system—at premiums several times higher than they now pay for private insurance providing the same basic coverage.

In addition, it is entirely probable that every home owner who hires people to work in and around his home would be forced to secure coverage under the new act, because the measure is vague as to whether a home owner is an employer. If home owners are declared to be employers, then failure to secure state-operated insurance coverage would subject him to extreme liability and criminal penalty, regardless of whether he carried home owner's liability insurance.

No one can deny the need to extend workmen's compensation coverage to many classes of workers. There are instances where realistic benefit increases and administrative reforms are necessary. But the logical way to amend the law is through the Oregon Legislature, where both labor and management can be fully heard, and where reforms and safeguards can be developed with fairness to all.

It is unfair to force the people to vote on a highly technical law which takes more than 60,000 words to explain in our statutes, on the basis of the brief and inadequate 25-word summary which describes it on the November ballot.

A modern workmen's compensation law, with equitable protection for all workers and employers has long been desired by the Oregon Medical Association, which has worked toward improving the system in recent legislative sessions.

But Ballot Measure No. 3 does not, and will not, serve the best interests of Oregonians. It is not a step toward improving the system. Instead, it is a step backwards, into a blind alley, which would do extreme harm to Oregon business and professions, the jobs they create, and the economy they support.

Ballot Measure No. 3 would permit a bureaucratic state-owned and operated monopoly, with its red tape, slow payment of claims, higher consumer costs and the elimination of cost-reducing competition. It should be defeated.

epilepsy can limit educational opportunities

"Epileptics need the knowledge and the skills that will permit them to compete with those not handicapped. Possession of educational assets strengthens self-confidence and morale."<sup>1</sup> For the epileptic child, the stimulation of regular school and the companionship of fellow students are also important. In making such goals possible, effective medical treatment is vital.<sup>1,2</sup> As a rational approach to the therapy required, DILANTIN (diphenylhydantoin) has become a standard measure because it combines effectiveness with a relatively wide margin of safety. It has minimal hypnotic effect... does not cause general depression.<sup>1</sup> Moreover, the drug often engenders improvement in the patient's memory, intellectual performance, and emotional stability.<sup>1,2</sup>

INDICATIONS: Grand mal epilepsy and certain other convulsive states. PRECAUTIONS: Toxic effects are infrequent: allergic phenomena such as polyarthralgia, fever, skin eruptions, and acute generalized morbilliform eruptions with or without fever.

Rarely, dermatitis goes on to exfoliation with hepatitis, and further dosage is contraindicated. Eruptions then usually subside. Though mild and rarely an indication for stopping dosage, gingival hypertrophy, hirsutism, and excessive motor activity are occasionally encountered, especially in children, adolescents, and young adults. During initial treatment, minor side effects may include gastric distress, nausea, weight loss, transient nervousness, sleeplessness, and a feeling of unsteadiness. All usually subside with continued use. Megaloblastic anemia, aplastic anemia, leukopenia, granulocytopenia, and pancytopenia have been reported. Nystagmus may develop. Nystagmus in combination with diplopia and ataxia indicates dosage should be reduced. Periodic examination of the blood is advisable. DILANTIN (diphenylhydantoin sodium) is supplied in several forms including Kapseals® containing 0.1 Gm. and 0.03 Gm. REFERENCES: (1) Lennox, W. # Support of Advertisers Called Vital

Two things are vital in the production of a publication like The Bulletin. First, there must be a reason for such an organ; in the case of The Bulletin the reason is simply that better communications make a better medical society.

The second necessity for any publication is financial support. The question must be continually asked: who pays the bills? In the last 10 years there have been some striking examples of this publication requisite. There was the demise of Colliers, the acceptance of advertising by Reader's Digest, and numerous failures and mergers of newspapers throughout the country. In each case there was a reason to publish, but financial difficulties made it impossible to continue printing on the then-existing course.

For purely financial reasons it is vital that the Bulletin keep and acquire advertisers. The only alternative to this is the unacceptable, if not financially prohibitive, support from members dues.

To keep our present advertisers, and to attract new ones the Bulletin must produce tangible results for them. More simply put; our readers must support Bulletin advertisers whenever possible.

Supporting our advertisers does not mean buying unwanted goods and services. True support comes through remembering them first . . . giving them a chance to match their own competition in price and quality.

If you remember our advertisers first, they will remember The Bulletin . . . to insure this, please tell them you read it in The Bulletin.

Oxygen-Life Link Study Grant Awarded

A seven-year Public Health Service grant totaling more than half a million dollars has been awarded to Howard S. Mason, professor of biochemistry at the University of Oregon Medical School.

The $537,285 grant is for study to determine mechanisms by which life is supported by oxygen. This problem in its various aspects is one of the major unsolved questions of molecular biology. It concerns the manner in which biological combustion yields the energy required for reproduction, growth, muscular work, temperature maintenance, nerve activity, and other biological functions essential to life. It is believed that normal and abnormal processes of biological combustion are responsible in part for the conversion of normal to cancer cells and may account for some aspects of aging, spontaneous inheritable disease, and even mutations which underline the process of evolution.

New Rehab Director Reception Slated

The women's Guild of the Rehabilitation Institute of Oregon, 2010 N. W. Kearney, will hold a reception November 17, between the hours of 5 and 7 p.m. at the Institute honoring its newly appointed director, A. R. Sigel.

All Society members are urged to attend not only to meet Dr. Sigel, but to learn more about the services offered by the Institute, according to Guild President, Mrs. Gunnar Nelson.

Sigel, newly arrived in Portland, was formerly a resident in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at Albert Einstein College of Medicine. He received his M.D. from Chicago School of Medicine in 1947, and was engaged in general practice in Lincoln, Illinois, from 1949 until 1962.

A native of Lancaster, Pa., he is married, has three children, and currently resides at 2425 S.W. 19th.

He has applied for membership in MCMS.

Auxiliary Helps Shut-Ins to Vote

To help get out the vote on November 3, the women's auxiliary has initiated "Project Ballot Box." Deputized auxiliary members will act as liaison between hospitalized patients in 10 Portland area hospitals and the county Registrar's office.

Five days before election day ballots will be prepared and taken to the hospitalized by the auxiliary, and then returned to the Registrar's office. Prior to voting the patient must fill out an absent ballot request though exceptions to this are made for emergency cases. To encourage the hospitalized to vote, posters have been placed throughout the various hospitals.

For the first time residents of Washington and Clackamas counties, hospitalized in Multnomah County, will be able to vote by absentee ballots thanks to deputized auxiliary members from these counties.

The actual time estimated for undertaking the project is about one full day for those members participating. However, considerably more leg-work has been expended in contacting the hospitals, and making other necessary arrangements.

Hypospray Injection Revaccination Success

More than 4,000 school children in Yamhill County have been revaccinated by the intradermal method, using a hypospray jet injector, reports that county's Health Department. In addition to being rapid and economical, the method was readily accepted by the youngsters. Good "takes" were obtained, and scarring was minimal.

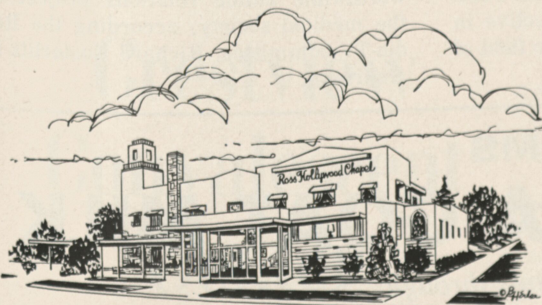

Dryvax (Wyeth) vaccine was used diluted 1:40 with Saline. The dose intradermally is 0.1 ml. Injections were given at the rate of 500 per hour.

MCMS Schedules Dr. White

World-famous heart specialist Paul Dudley White will address a special meeting of the Multnomah County Medical Society on Friday evening, November 6, 1964, in Ballroom A of the Hilton Hotel, in conjunction with the Oregon Heart Association.

It will be the Society's regular membership meeting.

Physicians and their wives are invited to attend. Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m., preceded by a social hour at 6:30.

Reservations are available on a first-come basis from Society headquarters, 228-4175. Dinner tickets are $5.00 each.

Dr. White will be in Portland November 6 to appear in a special program, "Hearts and Husbands," for women-only at the Memorial Coliseum that afternoon.

Dr. White has been president of the International Society of Cardiology since 1950, and of its research branch, the International Society of Cardiology Foundation, which he helped found in 1957. He also is Consultant in Medicine at Massachusetts General Hospital, and Clinical Professor of Medicine, Emeritus, Harvard Medical School.

A Founder of the American Heart Association, Dr. White served as its President in 1941-42, and remains active in its programs, particularly in the field of cardiac rehabilitation.

'Call The Doctor' Returns

"Call The Doctor," the MCMS' popular Sunday night radio show has returned to the air starting a fourth consecutive season over KGW at 8 p.m.

Again this year the show will be heard directly following the nationally prominent "Meet The Press" program. This fact, and also its mid-evening time slot insure a wide listening audience, not only from persons in their homes, but through the car radios of returning weekenders.

This year's format will carry few changes over years past. The program will have a general topic and a panel of physicians equipped to answer authoritatively about the area of medicine involved. Listener's having questions may call the station, have their question screened for appropriate air material, and then answered by one or all of the panel members.

Sufficient public response has been received in the past to make the show a worthwhile public relations project of the medical society, according to the Radio-TV committee. Richard Kosterlitz is chairman.

New Movies Made Available

A new catalog containing descriptions of 169 motion pictures suitable for lay viewing and pertaining to the health field has just been issued by the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association.

The films, which are available on a free loan basis to both lay and professional groups, cover such widely-discussed topics as accidents, alcoholism, allergies, artificial respiration, geriatrics, retirements, dental care, mental health, home safety, and career opportunities in the medical and allied professions.

On the more technical side, the films cover drug research, scientific agriculture, arthritis, open heart surgery, and the treatment of specific conditions of the digestive system, the heart, the lungs and the kidneys.

All of the 16 mm sound films were produced by prescription drug firms, but do not promote products. Running times range from 10 to 60 minutes. The majority run about 30 minutes.

Copies of the catalog are available upon written request to the Director of Public Information, Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, 1411 K Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., 20005.

Anxiety, Depression Seminars Planned

Emanuel Hospital will be host to a postgraduate medical seminar designed to assist practicing physicians in the diagnosis and treatment of anxiety and depression on Wednesday, Nov. 4.

The half-day session will conclude at about 4:30 p.m.

"Three outstanding authorities will provide practical guidance to doctors practicing organic medicine in the recognition and management of frequently encountered emotional disorders," according to David K. Taylor, president of the Emanuel Hospital medical staff.

An information panel discussion will follow presentations. Participation of physicians attending the session will be invited.

Discussions will include those on differential diagnosis of anxiety and depression, by Milton Rosenbaum, professor and chairman of the department of psychiatry, Albert Einstein College of Medicine; on anxiety and depression in severe and chronic illness, by Leo Hollister, assistant clinical professor of medicine, Stanford University; and on the treatment of anxiety and depression, by Blaine McLaughlin, associate professor and director of psychiatry, Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania.

Invitations have been extended to physicians throughout northern Oregon to attend the seminar, which is made possible by a grant from Wallace Laboratories.

Psychiatric Staff Gets New Additions

Two additions to the psychiatric staff have been made at Morningside Hospital it was announced recently by Henry W. Coe, administrator.

Explanations Given For Advertisers Products

From time to time The Bulletin will be printing short explanations of the products or services offered by our advertisers. This is a common practice in media, and is the main task of the modern, professional public relations man.

That the purpose of the Society is better medicine is not intended to be overlooked with the printing of "ad-puffs." Nor is it unknown that free publicity is gained by the advertisers. Both advertiser and the physician may benefit by this practice, however; the doctor can easily find out whether a product or service holds any value to him by reading a capsulized summary, thus avoiding time wasted with phone calls or salesmen.

Many potential advertisers are stimulated by these additional explanations as many fail to believe any single ad can fully explain the merits of their products.

For these reasons additional product information will be printed, but only on the condition of the taking of advertising space.

Mental Health Group Annual Meeting at Hilton

The Mental Health Association of Oregon will hold its 1964 annual meeting on October 1 at the Hilton Hotel, starting at 8:30 a.m. Reservations or information can be obtained from the organization's office, 427 S.W. 11th Avenue, Portland, or by calling 228-6571.

Dr. Ross Named Life Member

Cecil J. Ross was named a Life Member of the Multnomah County Medical Society by the Board of Trustees at its September meeting. Dr. Ross has been a member of the Society since 1926. He retired from full-time active practice in August.

Life Membership in the Society is open to physicians who have reached the age of 65 and have been members for 30 years or more.

Fertility Society Meets in Palm Springs

The Pacific Coast Fertility Society will hold meetings at the El Mirador Hotel, Palm Springs, California, November 12 to 15. A wide variety of panels, select motion pictures, conferences, and presentation of papers is planned. Among the special guest speakers planned are: Alan F. # Society Public Relations Program Rates High

The MCMS public relations program stacks up very closely to the ideal PR criterion published in the August 31st edition of the AMA News.

According to the article an eight point program of PR "musts" were listed by Mr. Jim Reed, director of the AMA's Communication Division, during the Public Relations Institute held in Chicago in mid-August. Seven of the points are as follows:

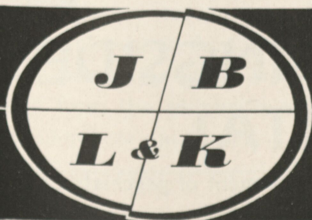

- An effective emergency call system
- An active grievance or mediation committee
- A continuing press relations program
- A speakers bureau
- An orientation program for new members
- A program to guarantee medical care for those unable to pay

A community service program
An interest in civic affairs

The Society has in effect all but two of the above points. Those not included in our local program are the orientation program for new members, and a program to guarantee care for medical indigents. The former is in the planning stages. The latter is not directly applicable, because the University of Oregon Medical School outpatient clinic and the Multnomah County Hospital. Individual physician's charitable work also falls into this category.

No public relations program, however, can be a complete success unless it fully implements the last point, according to Reed. This is asked in the form of a question to the doctor; "Does the public know about the other seven points?"

Bladder Cancer Study Grant Given

A seven-year grant totalling $334,285 has been awarded to the University of Oregon Medical School by the National Cancer Institute for studying the use of drugs and radiotherapy in the treatment of bladder cancer.

The Medical School is one of 14 institutions in the United States which will be participating in the cooperative study, according to Dr. Clarence V. Hodges, head of the division of urology, who will direct the study in Oregon. Working on the project with him will be assistant clinical professors of urology, Drs. Theodore H. Lehman and Robert J. Moore, and senior resident Dr. Jerry Giesy.

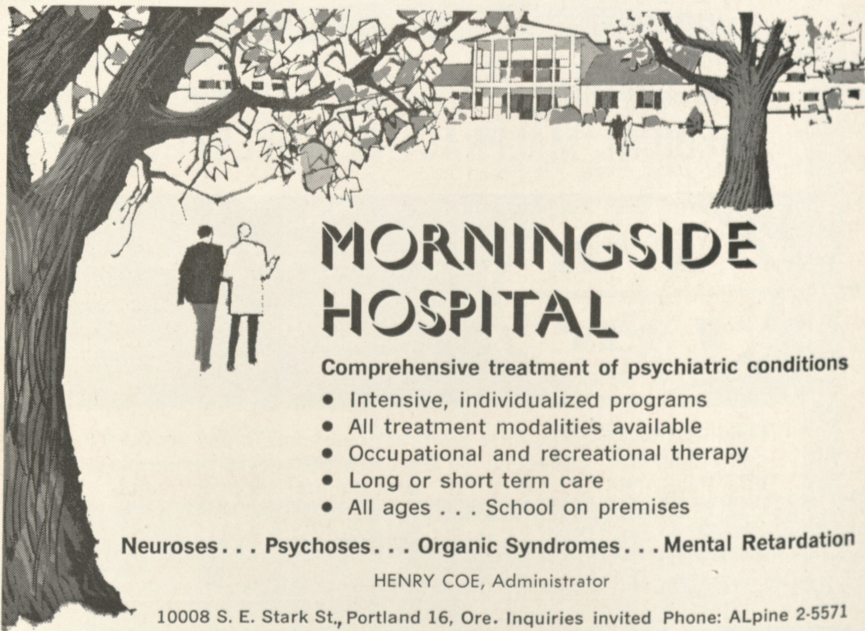

The School of Medicine at the University of California, Los Angeles, is the only other West Coast School participating in the research.

Consulting Service Offered Physicians

A unique business consulting service for the physician is offered by Professional Business Service, according to Mr. Jerome F. Comeau, the firm's owner.

Based on the idea that primarily the doctor wants to be free to practice medicine, PBS puts into operation a complete procedures system requiring a minimal amount of the doctor's time to be spent on purely business matters. Each PBS system is personalized to the physician's own needs and wants, and does not compete in any way with the function of the accountant, or collection bureau, said Comeau. He added because of increased efficiency higher accounts receivable rates are incurred.

Comeau has been servicing local physicians for over five years with his business procedures service.

Shirts, Socks, Drugs Equated

Buying a new shirt or three pairs of nylons or having a prescription filled all cost about the same, the drug industry reported recently.

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association reported that the average prescription cost $3.26 at the end of last year. At the same time the average earning of U.S. manufacturing production workers was $96.96 per week and it took the worker an hour and 22 minutes to earn enough for his prescription.

A typical "low-priced" car was "earned" in 1,132 hours, PMA said, while a tankful of gas "cost" two hours and 15 minutes' work and a carton of cigarettes was worth an hour's labor.

The association said the average employee worked nearly three hours for a tooth extraction, 44 minutes for a haircut, half an hour for a six-pack of beer and 25 minutes for a movie ticket.

The comparative figures all were computed from the most recently available federal government economic data.

In the prescription category, a 51-minute "bargain" was a dozen tablets of life-saving penicillin. Other medications ranged from the 46-minute sedative to the 110-minute antibiotics.

OMSI Aided by Token Gift

Television actress Yvette Mieux was on hand at OMSI September 18, when the MCMS Women's Auxiliary presented to the museum the die used in casting mementoes of participation in OMSI volunteer work.

The actual memento was in the form of a charm pin depicting the spirit of OMSI. Mrs. Rogers Smith made the presentation to OMSI officials saying she hoped the die could be used to produce additional pins at a profit to the museum.

Auxiliary women have undertaken staffing OMSI three days a week with the aim of encouraging education and health careers for women. In doing this, they have taken up a project originally carried out at the medical school.

These women will act as guides and do information work on Monday, Wednesday, and Fridays. Additional workers are wanted.

Co-chairing the Volunteers are Gertrude Close and Lois Miller.

It costs hospitals twice as much to care for a patient today as it did 10 years ago. The cost has increased from $18.35 to $36.83 a day, primarily because of rising wages of hospital personnel, new equipment and new services.

Private Insurance Provides $26,000

An 81 year old woman was provided payments of $26,000 for hospital services over a two year period by the Cleveland Blue Cross Plan. Estimated at the current rate of subscription fees her payment is equal to dues for the next 100 years, according to the Arizona Blue Cross Newsletter which reported the incident.

Though it was noted this was an exceptional case, the contrast was made between the woman's private plan and the broadest possible coverage under proposed King-Anderson medicare.

Under King-Anderson the woman would have had to pay $91 upon entering the hospital. The federal government would then have paid a total of only $3,130 spread over the two years she was hospitalized. All remaining charges, almost $23,000 would be either the patient's responsibility or her family's, or, in the case of inability to pay, would have presumably been written off by the hospital.

V. D. Films Available For Physicians and Laymen

Two new films on venereal disease are available for viewing. "The Identification of Early Syphilis" is for physician's viewing and is called an "excellent review of the problems of the diagnosis of syphilis," by the Communicable Disease Summary.

The film "Quarter Million Teenagers" represents a new approach to venereal disease education. It is a non-emotional, objective discussion of both syphilis and gonorrhoea.

Medicine - Business Difference Defined

"Since the practice of medicine is a profession and not a business, the practices adopted by businesses are not necessarily suitable.

"It is not in the best interest of the public or the profession to charge a penalty if fees for professional services are not paid within a prescribed period of time, nor is it proper to charge a patient a flat collection fee if it becomes necessary to refer the account to an agency for collection."

Physicians Told To Register Names

Physicians attending events at Portland's Memorial Coliseum are reminded to register their names and seat locations at the main box office. In the event an emergency call is taken, an usherette will deliver the message directly to the physician at his seat.

The Coliseum cannot page physicians over the public address system during any event. If a doctor is not registered with the Coliseum box office, it will be assumed he is not present.

Letters to the Editor

Death Penalty . . .

Editor:

I should like to take issue with the inclusion of Dr. Diack's arguments for abolishing the death penalty in Oregon in the past issue of The Bulletin.

I feel that Dr. Diack's basic reasons are not valid. If one believes in absolutes and the order of things as laid down in scripture, then the death penalty is certainly not morally wrong. It is supported both in the Old Testament and is also supported in the New Testament in the book of Romans.

To say that capital punishment does not deter murder or other crimes I again feel is wrong. I cannot see how one can read past history—especially scriptures—and say that one who knows the result he will receive for pre-meditated murder is not deterred.

His third and fourth points are very similar in their argument and have in my opinion nothing to do with the principle of capital punishment but with the process which has been set up by our courts for handling these problems. I do not agree with the repeated appeals which occur just in order to buy time. If this is one of their arguments, then I believe they ought to champion a drive to have the process of the law improved.

I believe that these types of arguments are mixing the principle of the problem with the legal process. In looking around us and observing how things are becoming more and more socialized, it is not difficult to see why this issue is being pushed. When one takes away absolutes by which he lives and substitutes relativity, then it is not difficult to make our morals fit the surroundings.

I personally believe that the article should not have been allowed to appear in The Bulletin because in my thinking it makes the reader feel that the Society agrees with Dr. Diack's arguments and as you see, I for one do not.

Albert C. Witt, M.D.

Editor's Note: As is printed in every issue of The Bulletin, opinions expressed, whether signed or unsigned, are those of the individual writers and do not necessarily represent the opinions or policies of the Editorial Board or the Multnomah County Medical Society. The above applies to each of the divergent stands taken by Drs. Diack and Witt.
